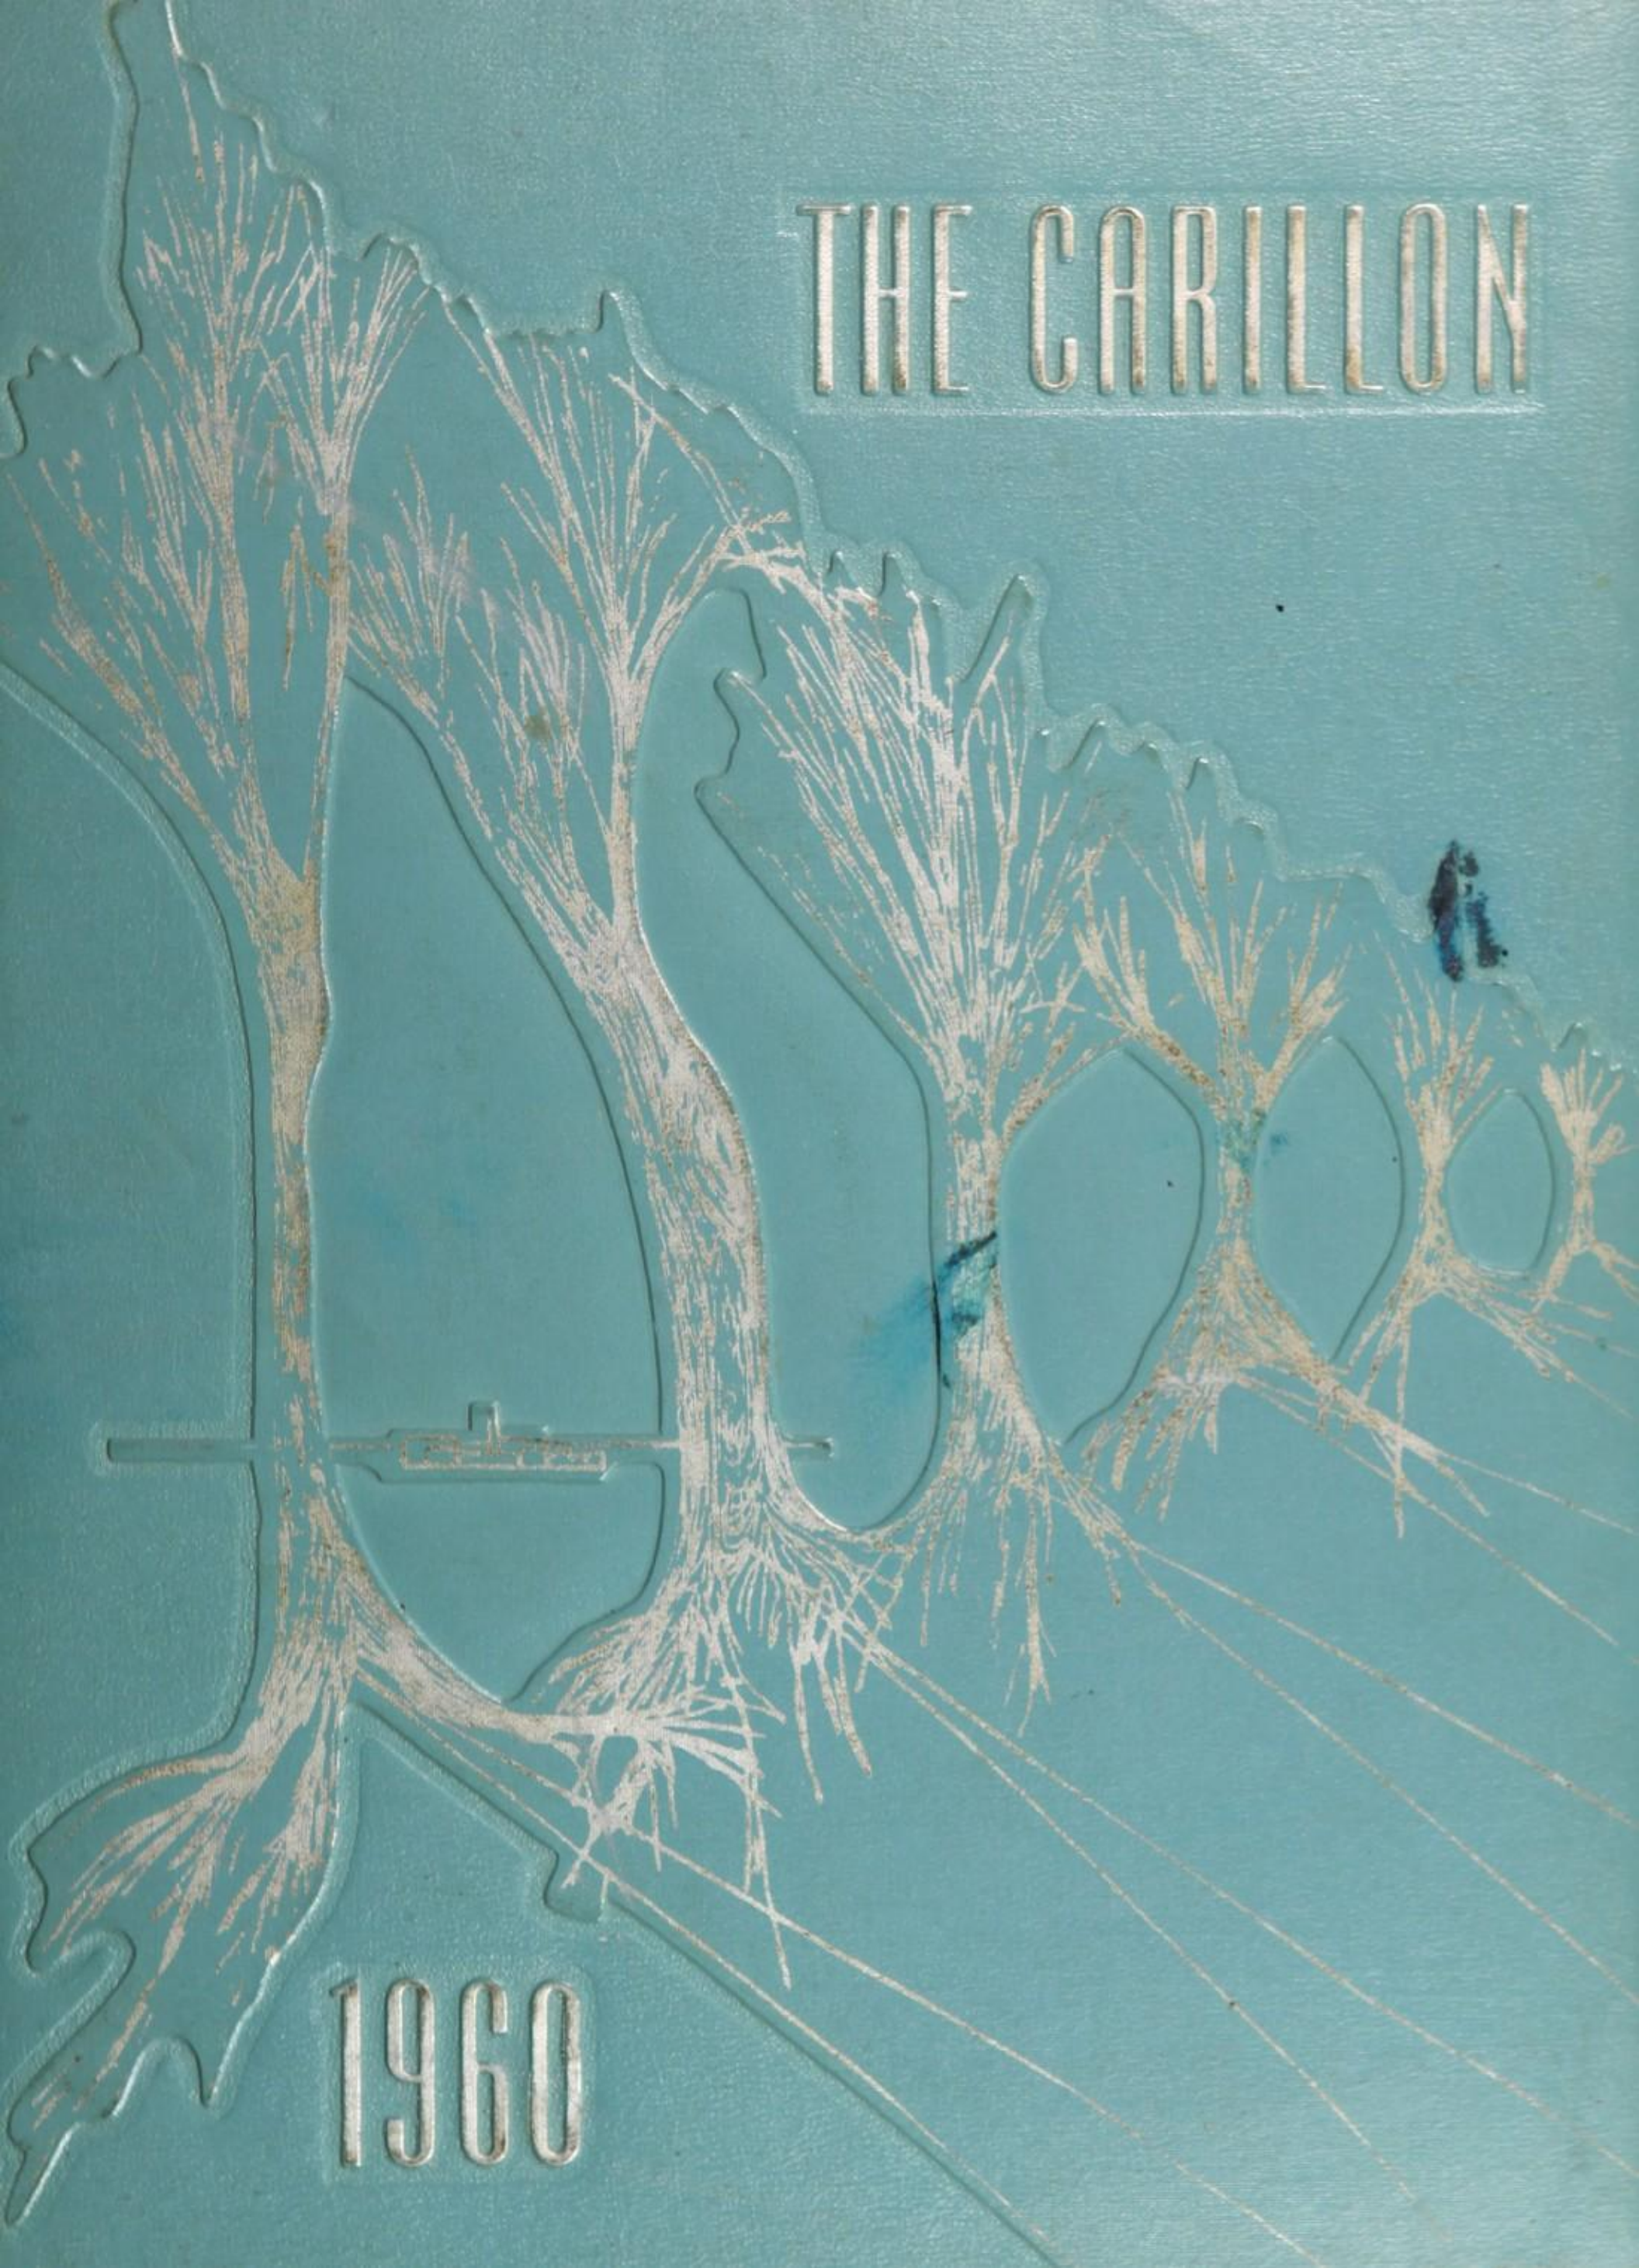
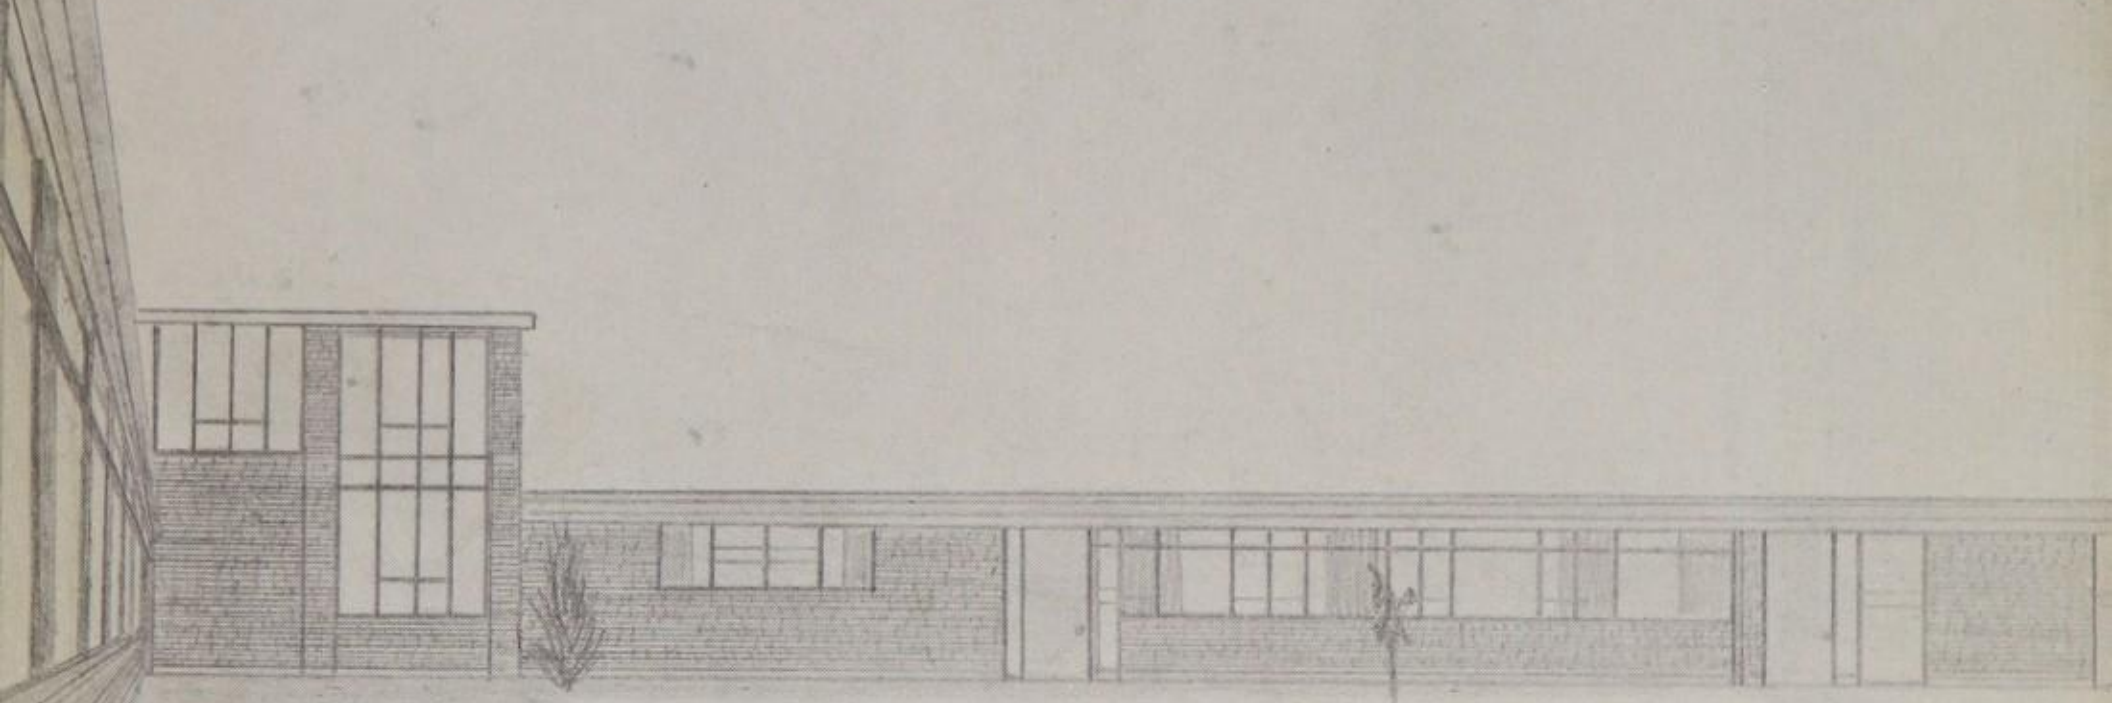
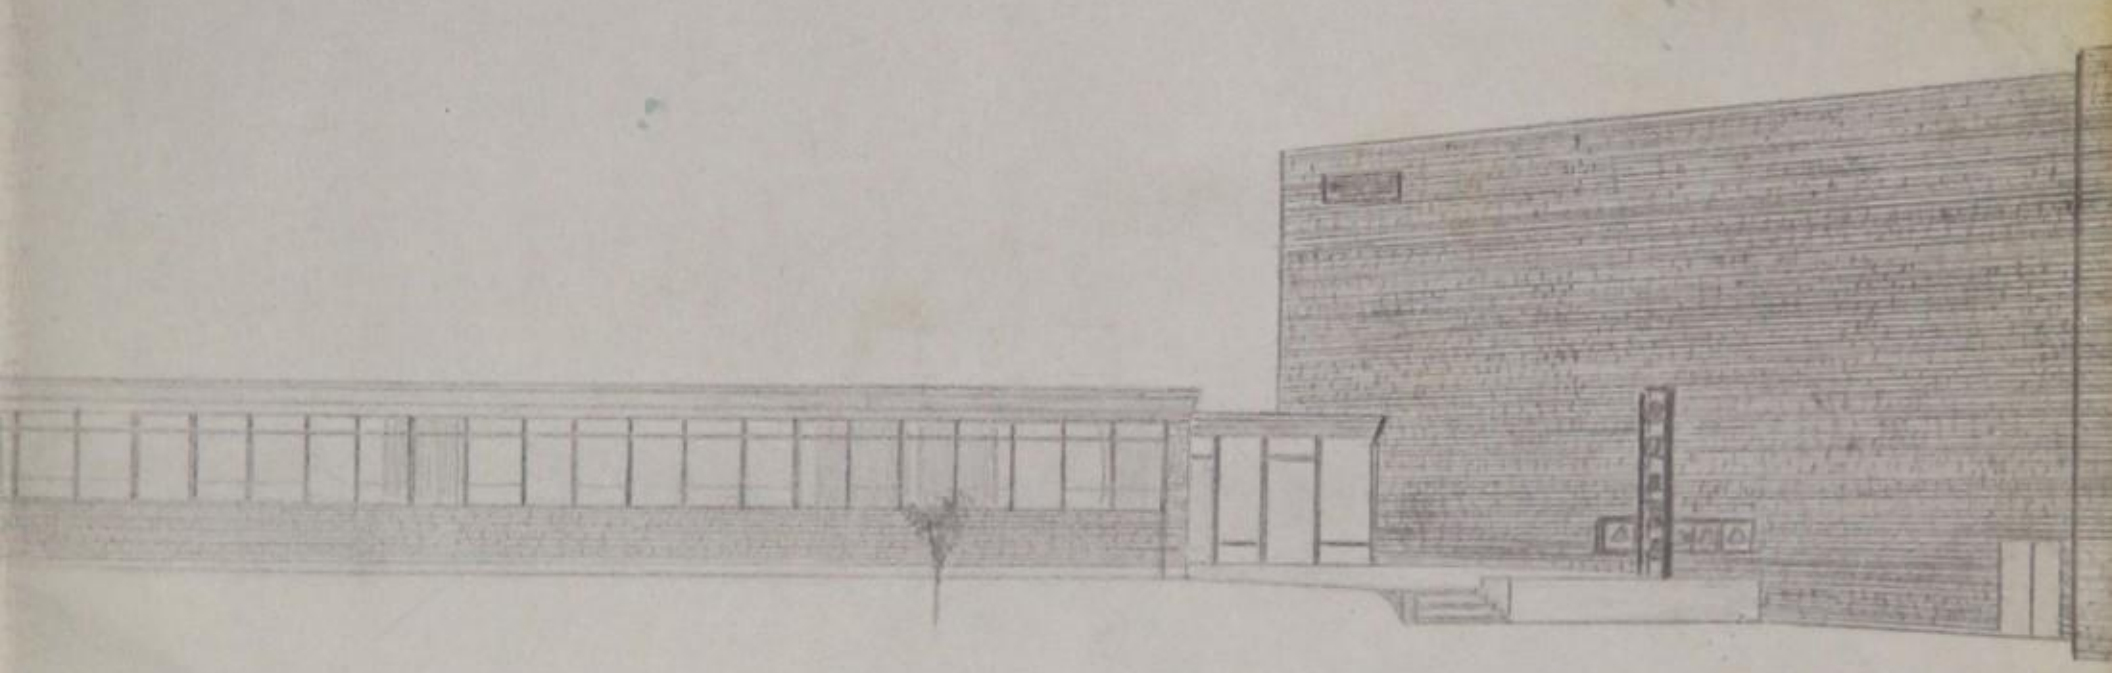
THE CARILLON



1960

William A. Cleveland





Foreword

Graduation gives birth to many emotions. Yesterday we lived and moved and had our beings in a child's world; today we stand on the threshold of a more mundane reality, and tomorrow we put away, forever, the things of our childhood and enter an adult society.

The competitive world of economic achievement will claim some of us, and the contemplative world of scholastic pursuit will engage others. In any event, our existence as school boys and girls is short-lived indeed.

In presenting our yearbook to you we take advantage of our prerogative to demand your attention. We present this book in a moment of reflection; we make an analogy.

We have spent twelve years, twelve long ones when viewed from present to future; twelve frighteningly fleet ones when viewed from present to past. Our analogy is this.

As the sculptor takes a measure of unshaped, unformed molding clay and labors patiently, skillfully, and long step by step, to produce a useful, polished work of art, so, too, did our school teachers accept us as unshaped, unformed children twelve years ago, labor patiently, skillfully and long to produce useful, polished people.

The working and polishing is finished now, and it is for us to demonstrate that our sculptors, working in human elements, were as successful as the sculptor working in lifeless clay. It is ours now to show the world that the effort and the strife that went into the past twelve years was not in vain.

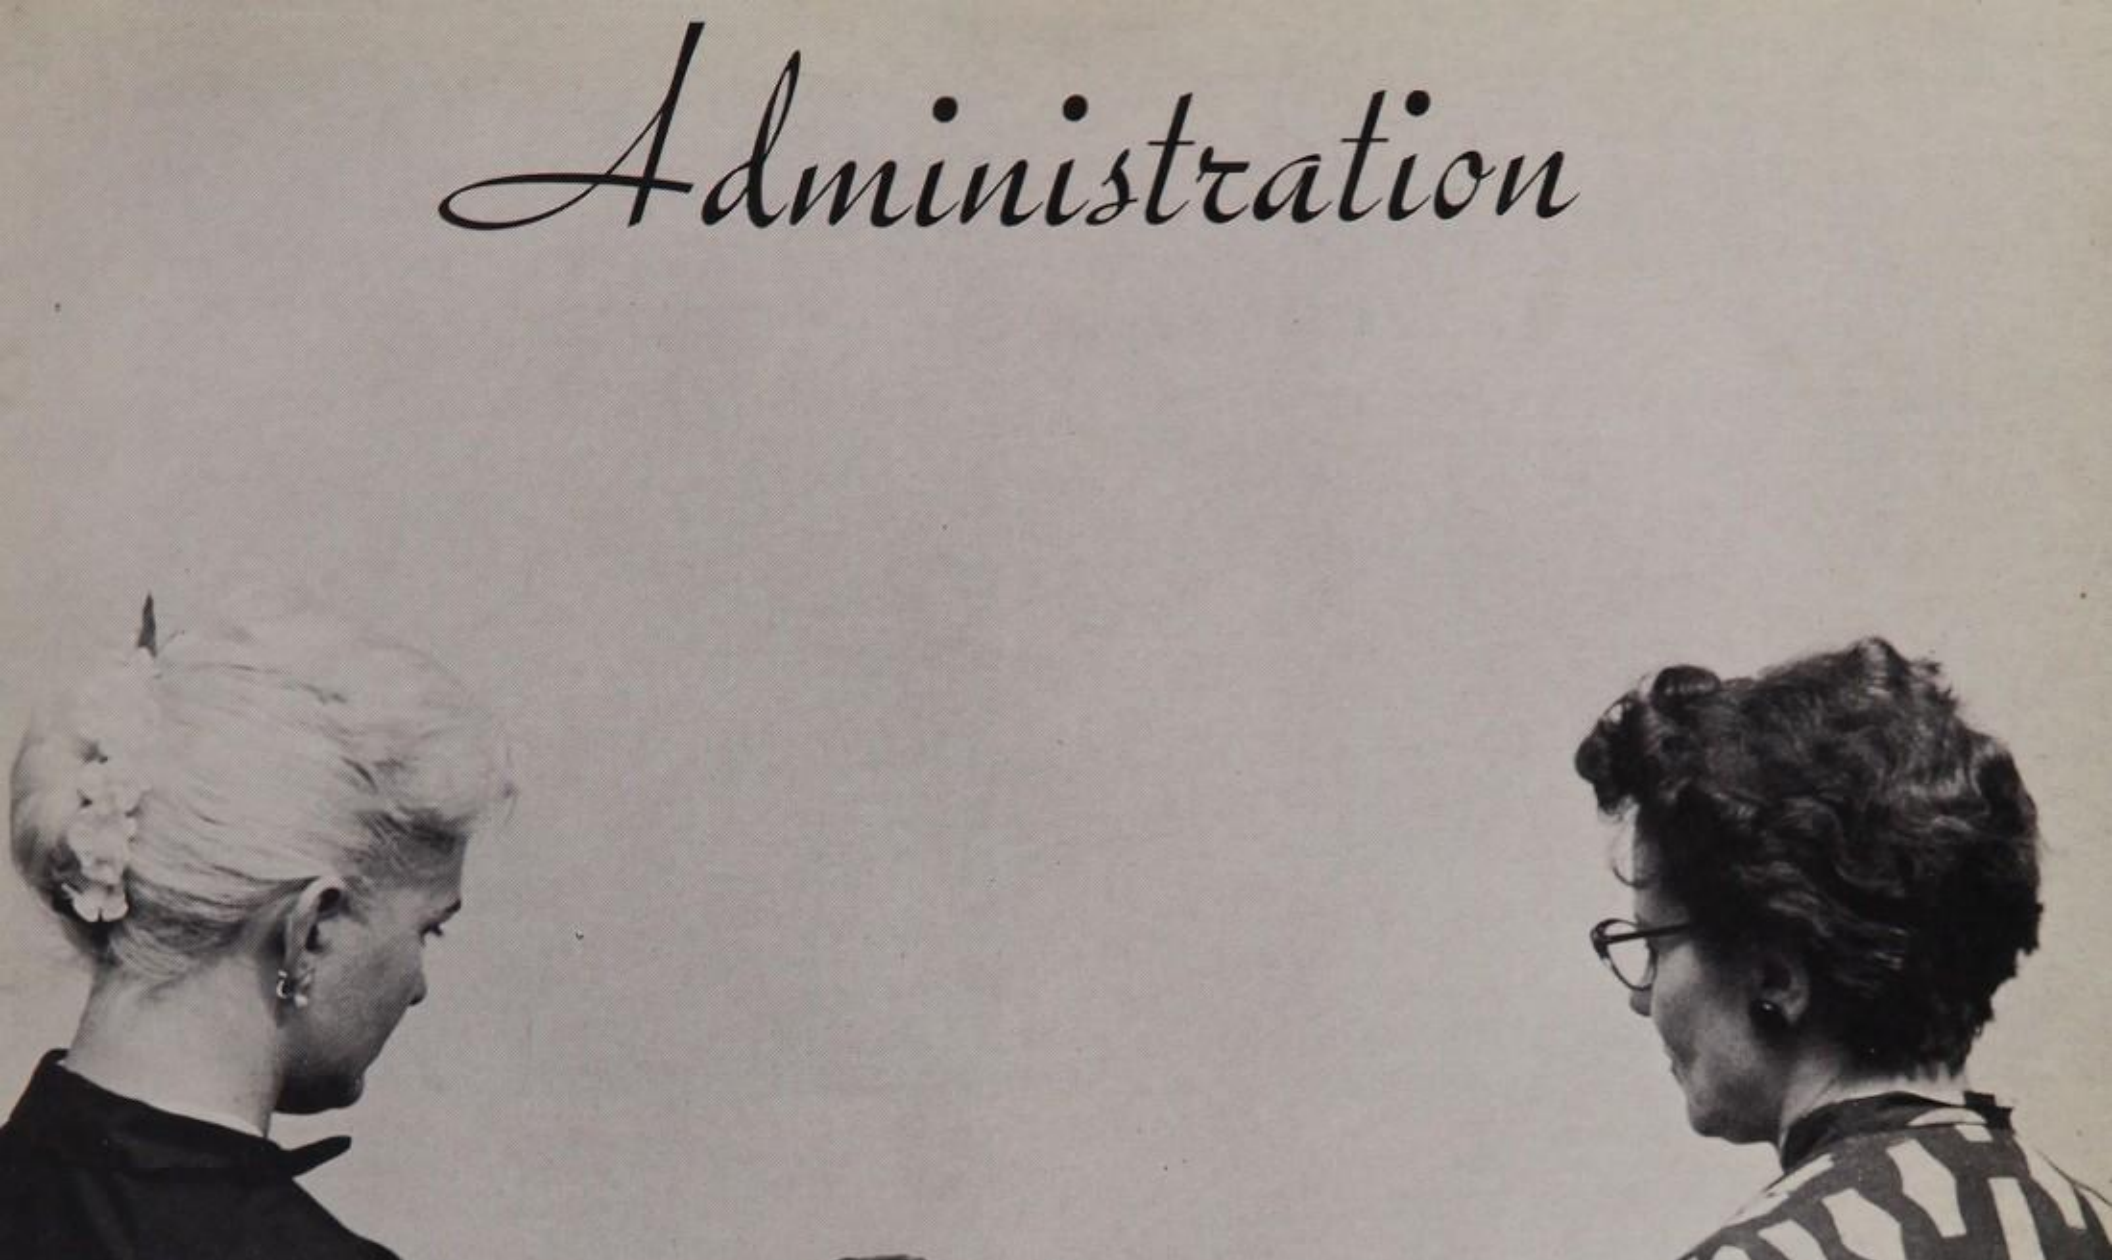
SHENENDEHOWA CENTRAL SCHOOL
ELNORA, NEW YORK

Dedication

Mr. Hicks was our advisor throughout our entire high school career. We appreciated his intelligence and respected his integrity. This dedication is in humble tribute to the man whom we cherished in our formative years, and whom we shall revere during our adult years.

Administration



All the people with whom we come in contact have some share in shaping us in the forms we are to assume. As the sculptor builds an armature on which to support his material, so, too, do these people build within us a support for the character and personality which are to be ours.

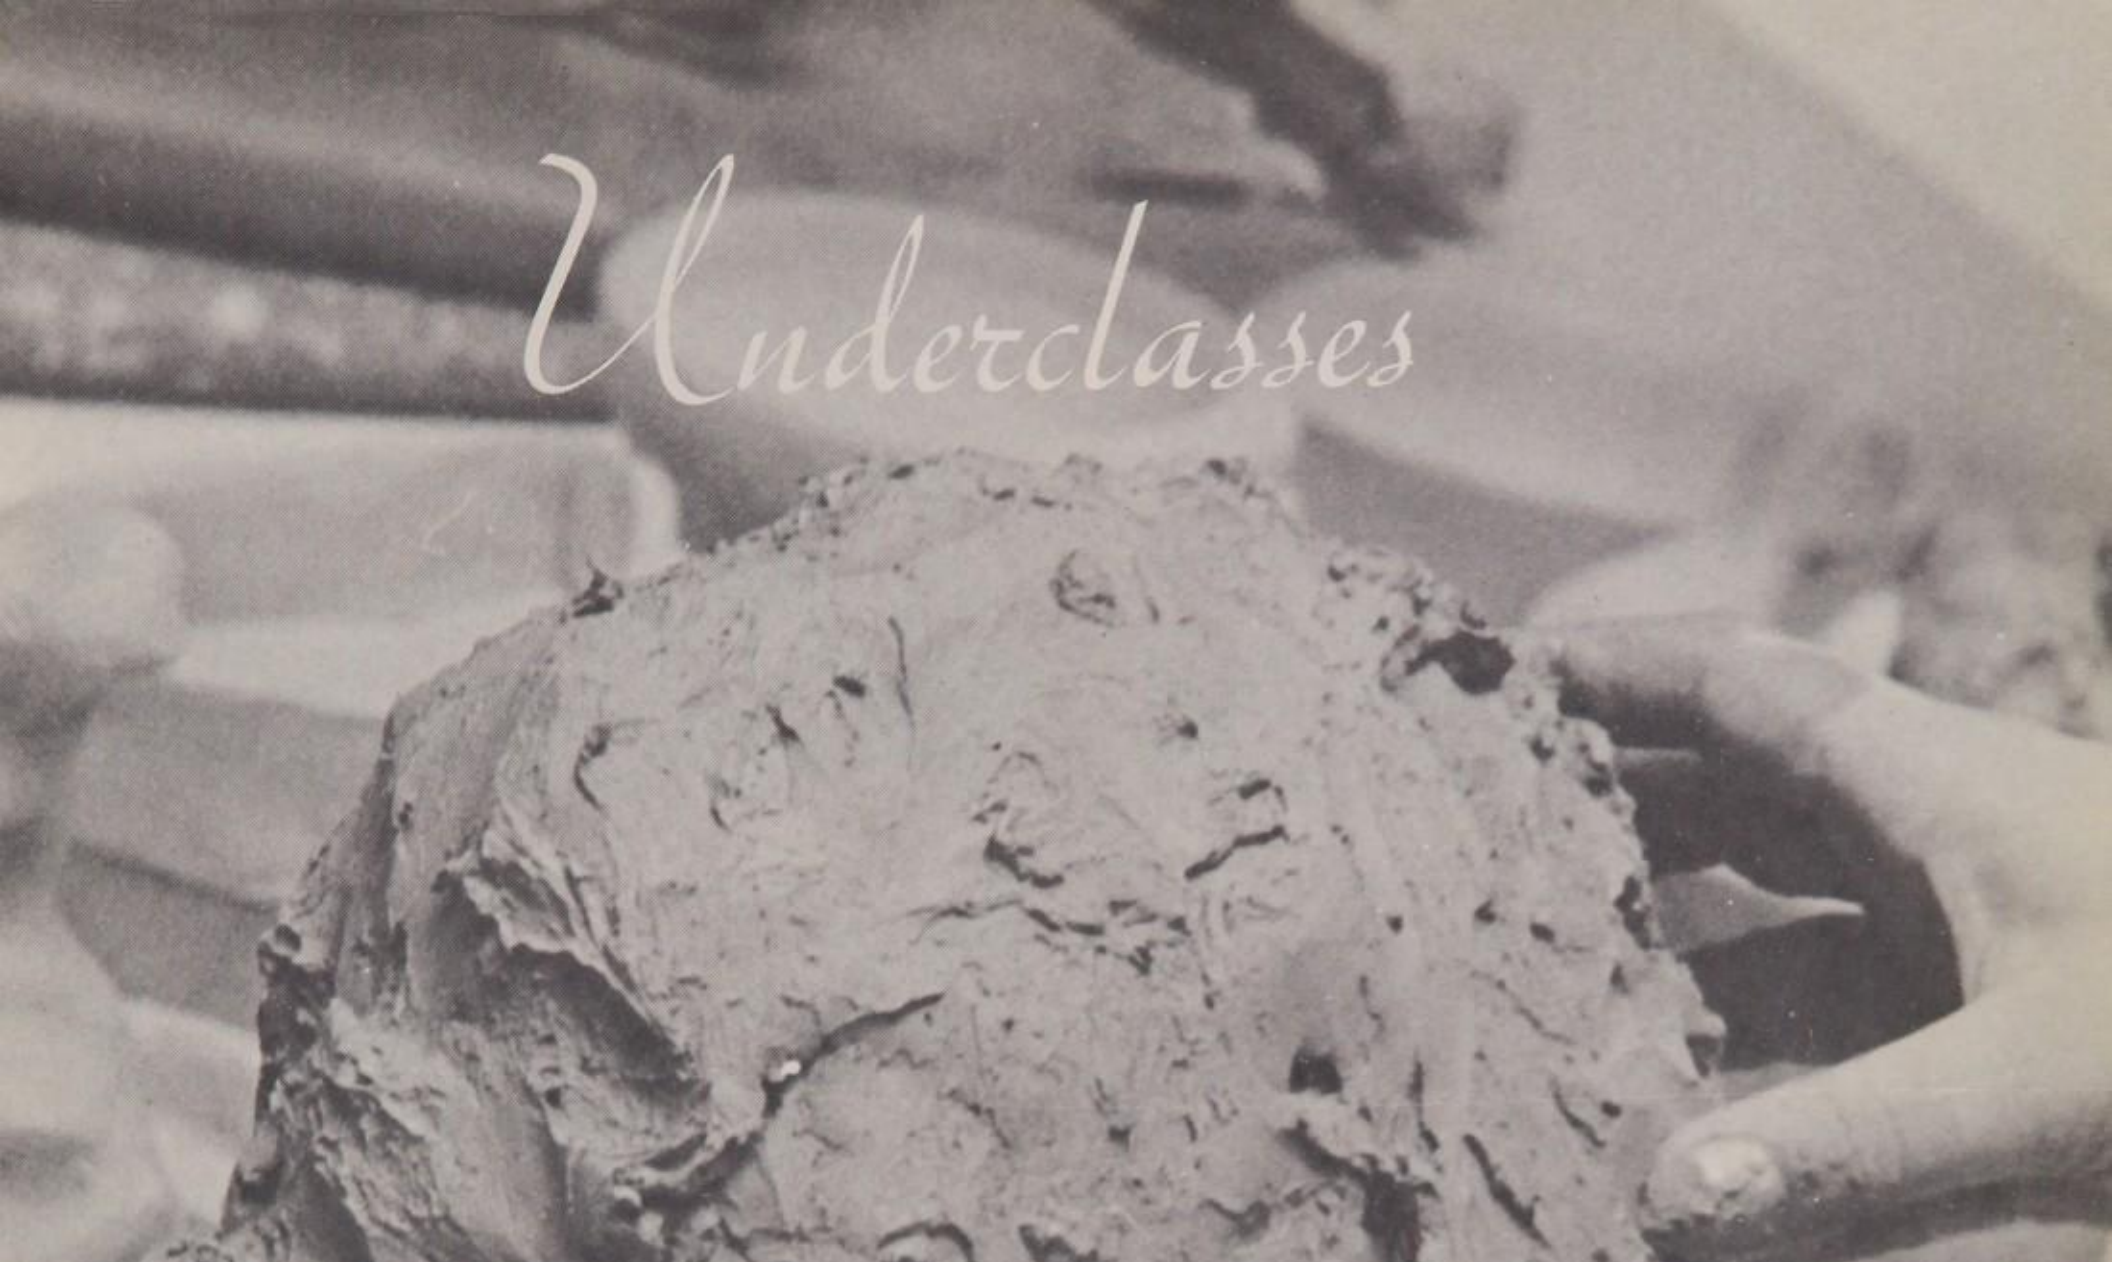
Underclasses



As he works, the sculptor adds to or reduces from his basic materials to provide strength and individuality to his handiwork. So, too, do the underclassmen add body and substance to the general effort of complete education.

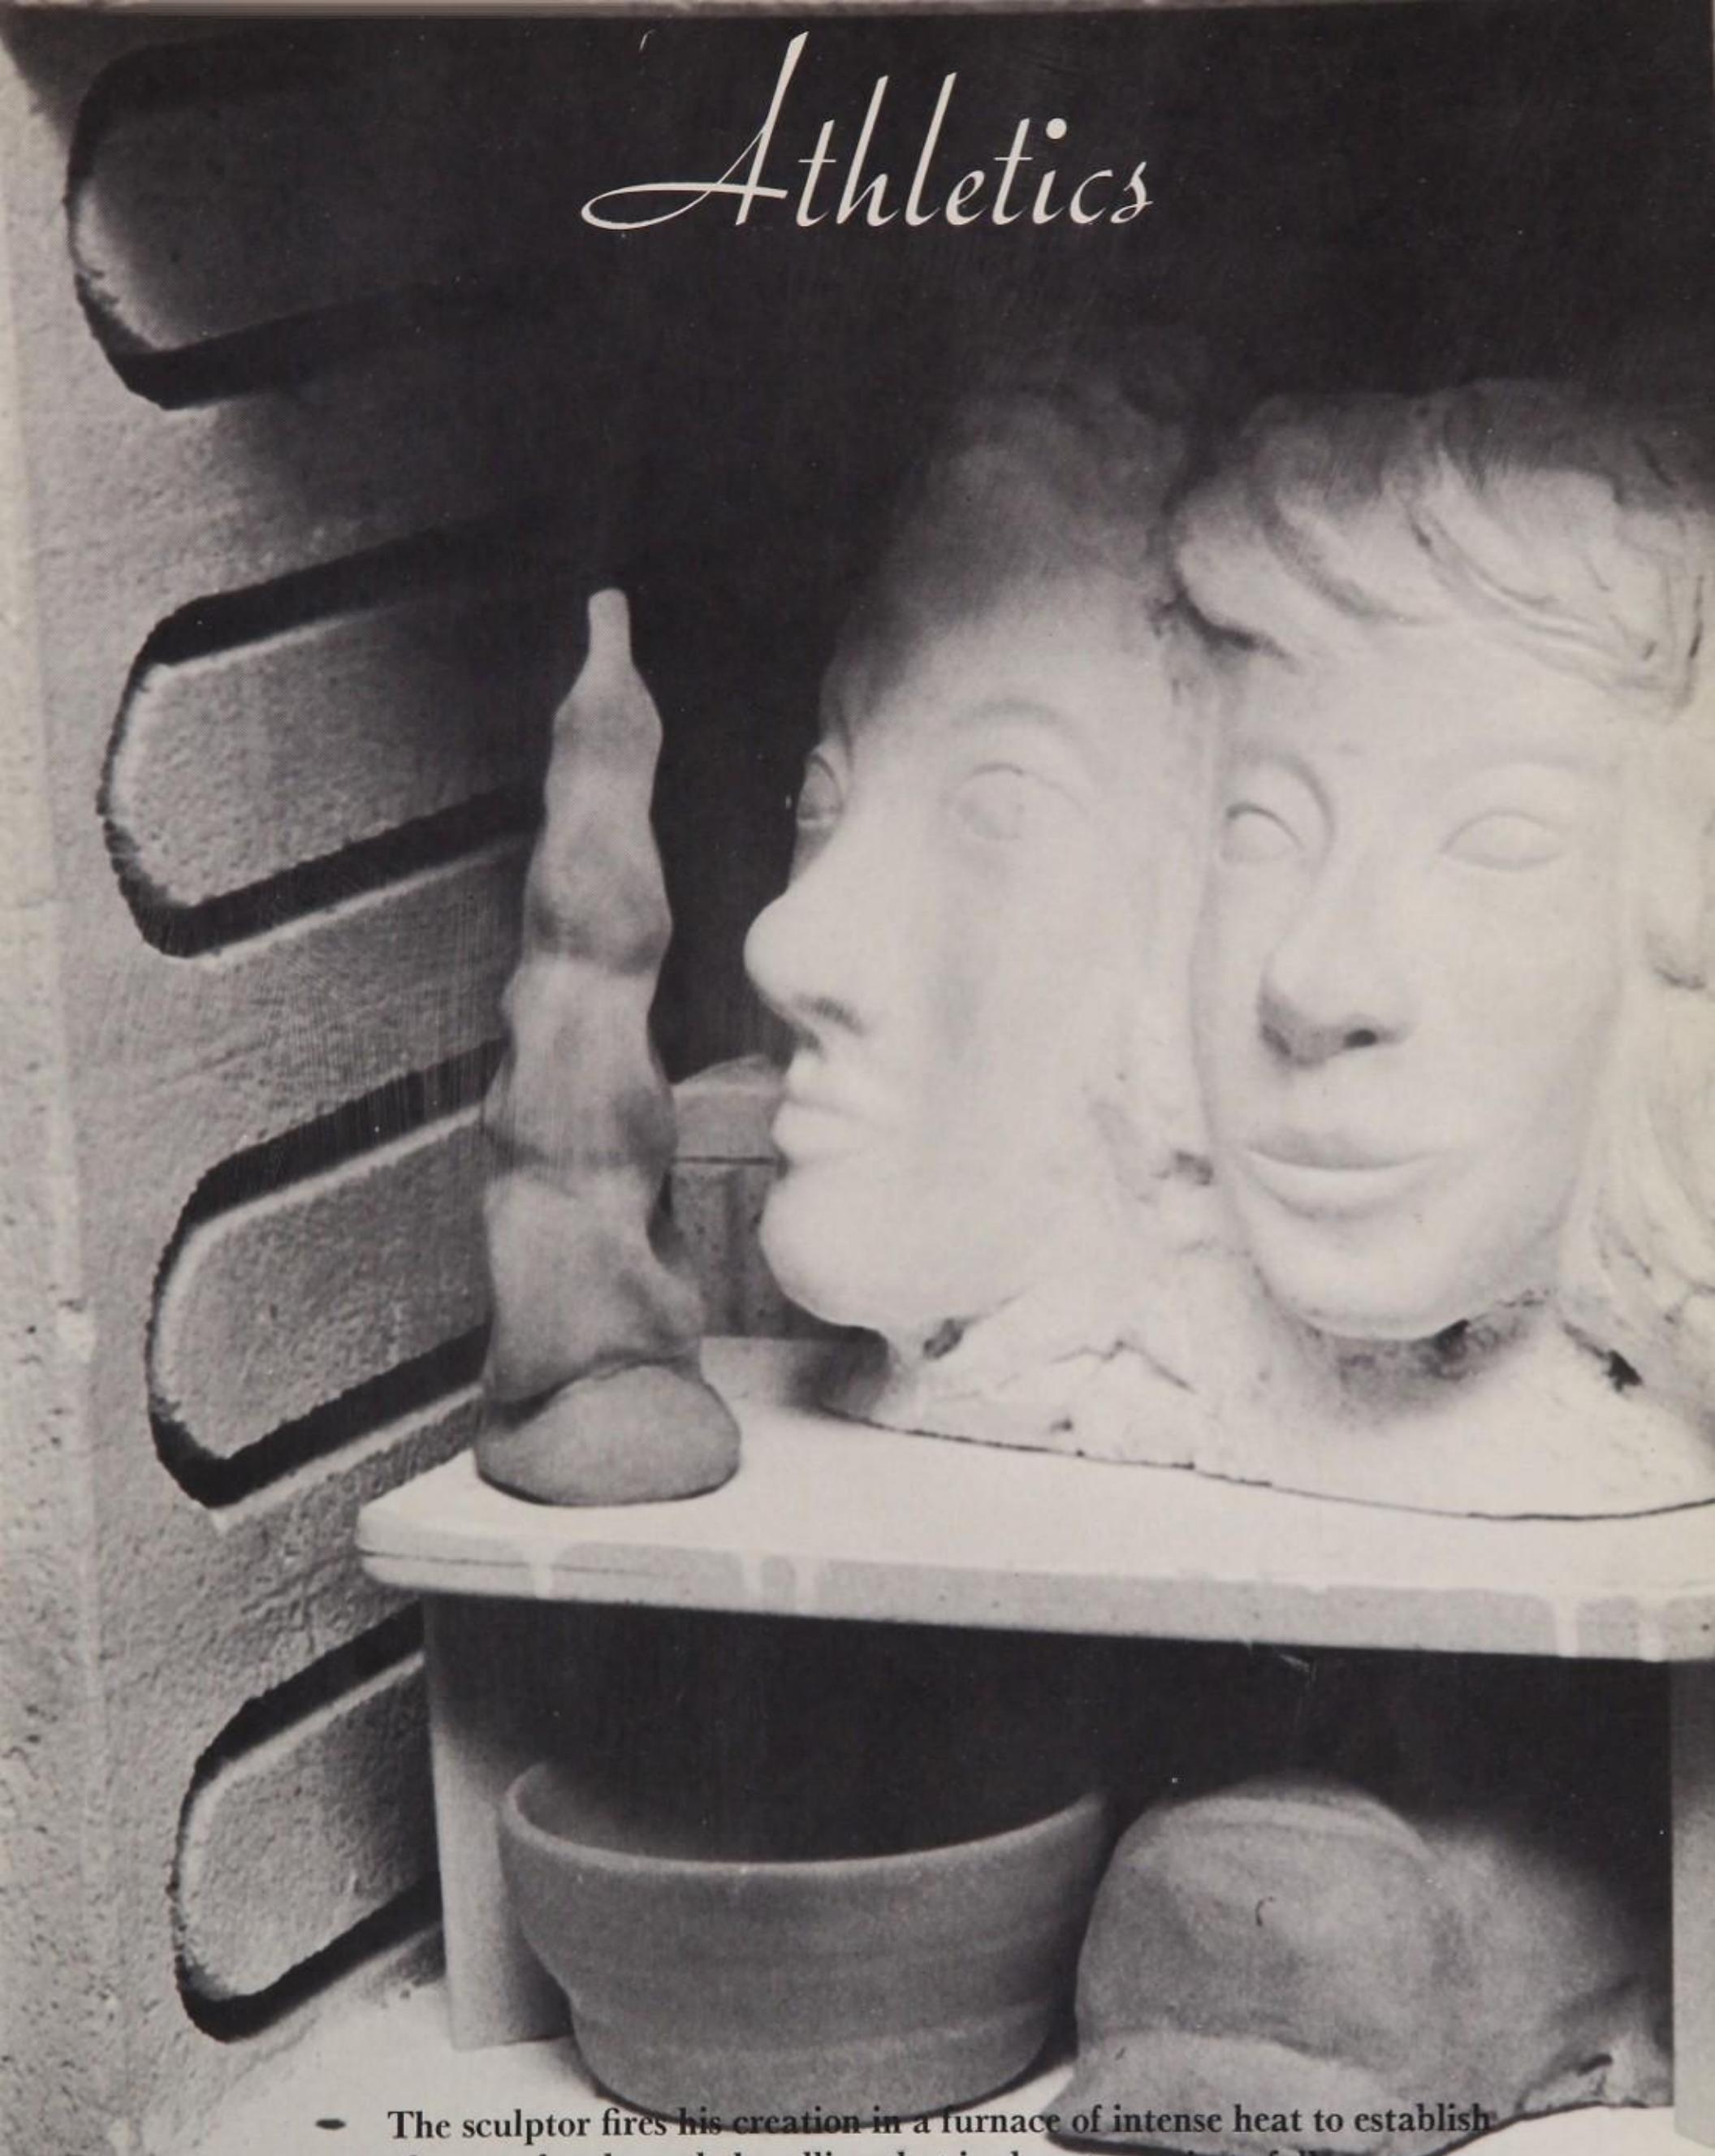
Athletics



The sculptor fires his creation in a furnace of intense heat to establish a tolerance for the rude handling that is almost certain to follow, so, too, do our athletic contests add strength and tenacity to our characters to enable us to cope with difficulties and adversities which will undoubtedly befall us.

On March 5 the girls headed for Scotia Glenville Central School for a day of volleyball. The girls that go from our school do not play as one team but play on color teams. The teams consist of girls from Draper, Scotia, Saratoga, Burnt Hills, and Ballston Spa. The purpose of this set up is for the girls to get acquainted with girls from other schools and learn to be friendly and to be good sports about it. Two of the girls from our school were on the winning team. After the announcement of the winning team, the students played the Physical Education teachers as a prize, and the students won.

Because of its strenuous nature, soccer is not the most popular game among the girls at our school. This year proved to be somewhat different because there was a large and enthusiastic turn out for the girls' soccer team.

A schedule of games with Niskayuna, Ballston Spa, Burnt Hills and Saratoga was arranged. We defeated Saratoga and lost to the other three schools.

The team hoped to have other games on the November playday, but the schedule was cancelled because of poor weather.

Because of the progress that had been made by the time the season ended, and because of the enthusiasm and skill shown, it would appear that next years' team will be a good one.

Interest in the intramural program for Girls Physical Education has greatly increased during the past few years. Additional Playdays, widely divergent schedules of contests with many different schools and new and fresher approaches to the usual routine of daily physical education classes are all the accomplishments of our director, Miss Lorraine Hubbard.

Miss Hubbard taught at several schools before coming to us in 1955 when we were eighth graders. The members of this class saw her improvements; appreciated her efforts and thanked her for the many happy hours spent in athletics. She made pleasure of what might easily have been pain.

On January 16 nearly 200 girls from Draper, Saratoga, Burnt Hills, Ballston Spa, Niskayuna and Scotia came to our gym for basketball games. Our girls worked hard to win, but the other teams were a bit too strong. Sandy Carlo's team, however, won two match games from Burnt Hills and Ballston Spa, thus saving some glory for our teams.

Miss Hubbard, advisor to Girls' Leaders which sponsored the playday, felt that all the hard work done by our girls culminated in a highly successful day.

Clubs

Our clubs, and our dances; our organizations and our enterprises are designed to polish, to refine, to decorate, if you will, the characters and temperaments we are displaying, quite similar to the adorning process applied by the sculptor as he nears the completion of his labor.

National Honor Society

An organization which was instrumental in our improvement was the National Honor Society. This society, emphasizing scholarship, leadership, character, and service and considered the Phi Beta Kappa of secondary schools has international recognition. Membership greatly enhanced the students' admittance to college.

To be elected to this society was the highest honor a student could receive. Any one who had at least a B average and who met the qualifications on the basis of leadership, character, and service was eligible for membership.

Looked forward to with anticipation by the entire student body, the day of induction to the society was a highlight of the school year. The parents of the new members were invited to the ceremony and, as the lights in the auditorium were dimmed and a hush overtook the student body, the names were called and the new members took their places in the most august of scholastic organizations.

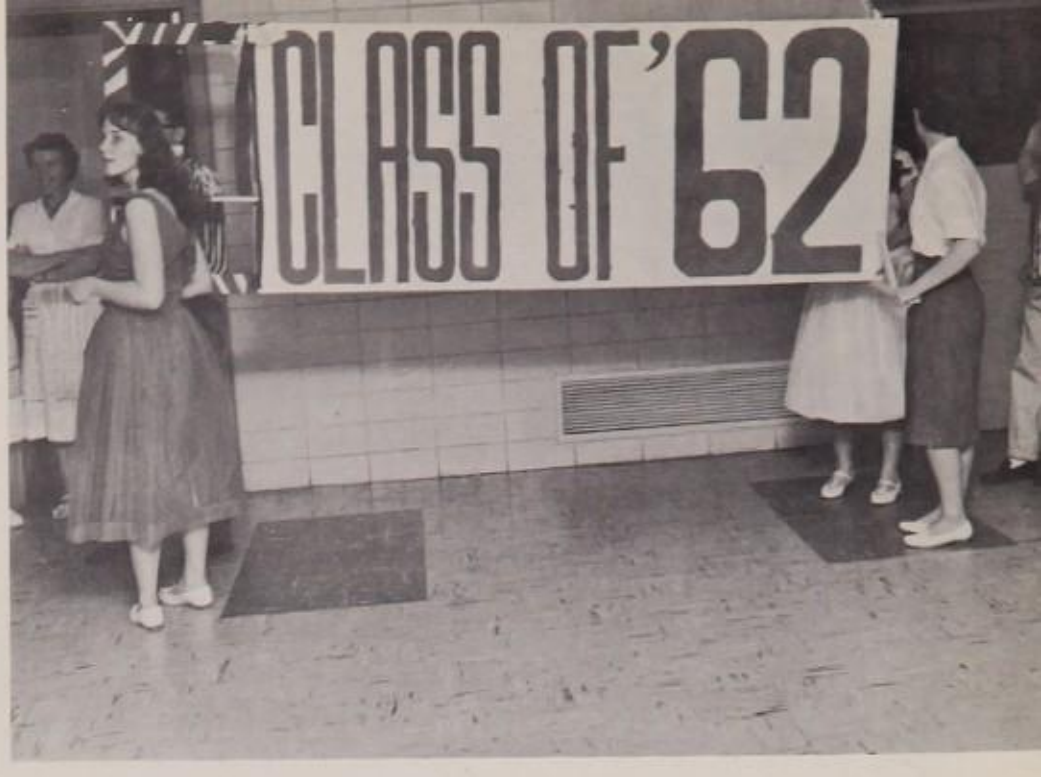
Roger DesForges, president of the Honor Society opened the Induction Ceremony.

Linda Stott and Johnny Allen carry the banner for '64.



The class of 1962—All except Judy Eckert were interested in something else.

Moving Up Day

Moving Up Day was celebrated near the end of the school year. Sponsored by the National Honor Society, it was the day upon which the class will, class prophecy, and other events of interest to the student body are announced. Its purpose was to commemorate the end of another school year at Shenendehowa.

Honor Society members tried to install in the student body a feeling of unity and a spirit of healthy class rivalry. Their secondary purpose was to raise sufficient funds to meet their scholarship demands. The Society provides a scholarship each year to any deserving senior who plans to attend an institution of higher learning.

Gary Greene and Ron Gibbs dressed the part; Roger DesForges and Marion Carlo carried the colors of their class.

Patty Smith and Sue Shopmyer do the honors for our present junior class.

American Field Service

While writing these few lines for the Yearbook, I want to take the opportunity to thank each one of you who contributed to make a dream of so many European teen-agers come true to me.

All through the year you tried to make me feel at home in your school and community by your sincere kindness and open friendliness. I think you succeeded in it because it is with a regret that I see the remaining days, weeks and months flying by as if they were jets.

It will be a joy to me, when back in my country, I look through my mind and scrapbook and refresh all the wonderful moments I had in the United States.

When I go home, I have to do my senior year of high school over; but I find this year has been most profitable. I gained an experience I never would have received from a year of booklearning.

My stay has brought me in contact with many differing people and their customs. I have learned to appreciate them equally. I came also to the conclusion that in America not everybody is as the actors of Hollywood; that not everybody is a millionaire, who spends his time driving around town in a white 1960 convertible, but that there are people like us with the same problems and who want peace.

I tried to understand your people, and this understanding I will try to pass on to the teenagers and older people of Belgium because in the understanding of each other rests peace.

I hope I did justice to my country and that you learned as much from me as I did from you.

Maybe in the future some of you will be visiting Europe, remember then that somewhere over the ocean in Belgium you have a friend where you always will be welcome.

Francine Wybo

Dear Reader,

"Walk together, talk together, O ye peoples of the earth; then and only then, shall ye have peace." These words taken from the ancient Sanskrit serve as the motto for and explanation of the existence of the American Field Service.

Last summer I had the opportunity to contribute my humble share in the AFS's effort to establish personal international friendships.

Nearly everyone of the countries in the free world were visited by someone of the 900 American High School Juniors who went abroad last summer. From these countries, in turn came almost 1600 teen-agers to live here for a school year and see some of our country in the summer before returning to their home-lands.

Last summer I saw and did many wonderful things. I lived as one of four boys in a Norwegian family. I learned to respect the differences between Karl Dahl's family and my father's family. The Dahl's are now as a second family to me. I hope to visit them and the people of Oye who are my friends, sometime in the future.

To everyone who helps make the American Field Service a reality through his work and donations, I give my sincerest thanks. I had a wonderful experience that will always be part of me.

Francine Wybo, our Belgian foreign exchange student, and William Husson, our own representative to Norway, talk over some of the things they have in common as American Field Service representatives.

Bill Husson

Francine was surprised at this moment.

Student Council

Our sculpture could not have been complete without mention of the Student Council. It represented the voice of the student body, and through democratic procedure made decisions that affected the entire school. Among these decisions were the drafting of a school calendar and the standardization of the school ring.

Also important in the work of the Council was the work with the American Field Service. It organized the community body which sponsored the visit of one of our student body to a foreign country for the summer. Our Council worked hard and we certainly did appreciate all they did for our good.

Community Festival

(A) The afternoons activities began with food a plenty in the cafeteria. (B) Lunch was followed by the "Canine Show". I am sure everyone knows what I mean. "Some fine looking animals don't you think?" (C) Then came the "Go Cart" show. There were maneuvers to be completed. The boys did a good job. "Congratulations." The highlight of the day seems to be the horse show. Those "Four-legged Monsters" really kick up the dust. The horses and riders gave a great showing. (D) "How is the bareback riding Nancy" or (E) "Cheryl, can you answer all the questions asked about your horse?"

The perfect way to begin or end this fun packed day is to visit the gym, where there are many fine exhibits, and wander at your leisure. (F) "See how big the pumpkins are!" (G) See the many bouquets of fall flowers. "Beautiful aren't they girls?"

One of the highlights of our Junior year was the day our rings came. That was a day of much chattering and exclaiming. (H) "Right boys?"

Band

Some of the rough places in our sculpture were smoothed down by the fine work of Mr. MacElroy in our school band. Students perfected their skills with musical instruments and a well-balanced personality of scholarship and good habits of conduct were the chief incentives. Refinements in and out of school were the results.

The Dance band was organized to instruct young instrumentalists in offering dance music. These musicians played at school functions and at a concert given in early June. Their musical contributions at the Yorker Jamboree were appreciated by all of the students and teachers who attended.

Orchestra

Miss Kunz directed this group which provided music for assemblies, plays, and concerts. The group succeeded in achieving a happy blend of fine musical instrumental presentation.

Chess Club

The Chess Club aided in refining us by teaching us how to think logically, and to smooth out the imperfection of rash judgment. The purpose of this club was to promote interest in chess within the school and to teach good sportsmanship. The club travelled to other schools in this area and in all contests they played well enough to give promise of a fair future.

Y-Teens

The Y-Teens added to our formation and growth by instructing its members in the necessity for friendship with each other and with people of all races. Their avowed aim of keeping the service and love of God foremost in their minds, aided them in their effort of service to their neighbor. Special programs and athletic events at the Schenectady Y helped them to achieve their lofty purposes.

Girls' Leaders

The students in Girls' Leaders were chosen for ability, cooperation, and scholarship. In serving as leaders of regular gym classes and acting as officials at intramural contests, the members arrived at the first of their two goals, namely to demonstrate the ability to lead others. In succeeding to excite interest in other girls in the general necessity for athletic participation, the girls arrived at their other incentive, which was to demonstrate their own personal interest in physical fitness. Their programs were sound and effective. Meetings took place after school under the direction of Miss Hubbard and Shirley Luse, club president.

Yorkers

Yorkers are junior members of the New York State Historical Association. These young people study and discover historical data about their community and state. They enjoyed field trips to historical sites, attended debates, gave reports and uncovered local traditions. "History Can Be Fun" was their theme and they worked studiously at proving this to be true.

Future Teachers of America

The Future Teachers of America specialized in guiding those who planned to teach. Members were given the opportunity to practice a realistic teaching situation and to discover those qualities that constitute a truly good teacher. After observing teachers and working for a day as school administrators and teachers, they could determine for themselves whether they would care to continue in this profession.

F. N. A.

The purpose of this club is to interest students in personal and community health; to encourage them in finding out what nursing requires and what it offers; to help them decide wisely about professional or practical nursing as their career.

Meetings were held the first and third Wednesday of the month. The money-raising projects were directed toward providing a scholarship to a graduate who is planning a career in nursing. The members help the School Nurse-Teacher in the Health Room and at the immunization clinics.

F. F. A.

The Future Farmers of America added substance to the material being developed in our overall scholastic growth. Interested in up-to-date farming methods, sound management - practices and good leadership, the club accomplished much for the school and its members. Their practical projects of selling eggs, operating a milk-bar, and sponsoring dances offered them opportunities for real business experience. They held a dignified banquet to which parents of members attended.

Humanities

The Humanities Club was founded for the purpose of providing some satisfaction for those students whose intellectual curiosity was focused on the fine arts.

There were weekly meetings and guest-lecturers. Mr. Dziezic, the advisor, permitted much open discussion; and a casual, unhurried atmosphere made meetings both pleasant and profitable.

Bible Club

Our Bible Club did much to rub off the rough edges of our personal sculpture. It was intended to promote spiritual growth and to erase personal imperfections. Meetings were weekly and offered speakers, films, and Bible study.

Junior Prom

An event which added substance to our development was our Junior Prom. This was the biggest event of our junior year, and we looked forward to it for many months. On May 2, 1959, we lived and loved our prom at the Van Curler Hotel in Schenectady. We will always have wonderful memories of that marvelous night. As the evening passed, the tension mounted; the names were called and one by one Sandra Carlo, Dianne Johnson, Dian Blossom, Linda Peck, Mary DeMartino, Nancy Peck, Beth Jackson, and Rose Marie Alexander received their beautiful roses, finally the Queen was named—Lea! She took her place on the throne, was crowned by Jeanne Wagner and our Prom was over; our memories will live forever.

The purpose of any yearbook is to record the events of the school year. We, the editors of this book, choose to feel that the book, although it is designed, written and published by the members of the senior class, is a record of the activities of all students in all grades and classes.

We have tried to hit the high spots in social, athletic and scholastic affairs. We think that we have perpetuated for you those occurrences that you most enjoyed. We hope that our book will help you to re-live the many happy moments that you experienced during the 1959-60 year at Shenendehowa.

The staff, would at this time, like to thank all those persons who have helped to compile this book. A special thanks goes to our yearbook advisors, Mr. Emery Fullaytor and Mr. Henry Dziezic, for their time, patience, and encouragement, for without their help this book would not have been possible.

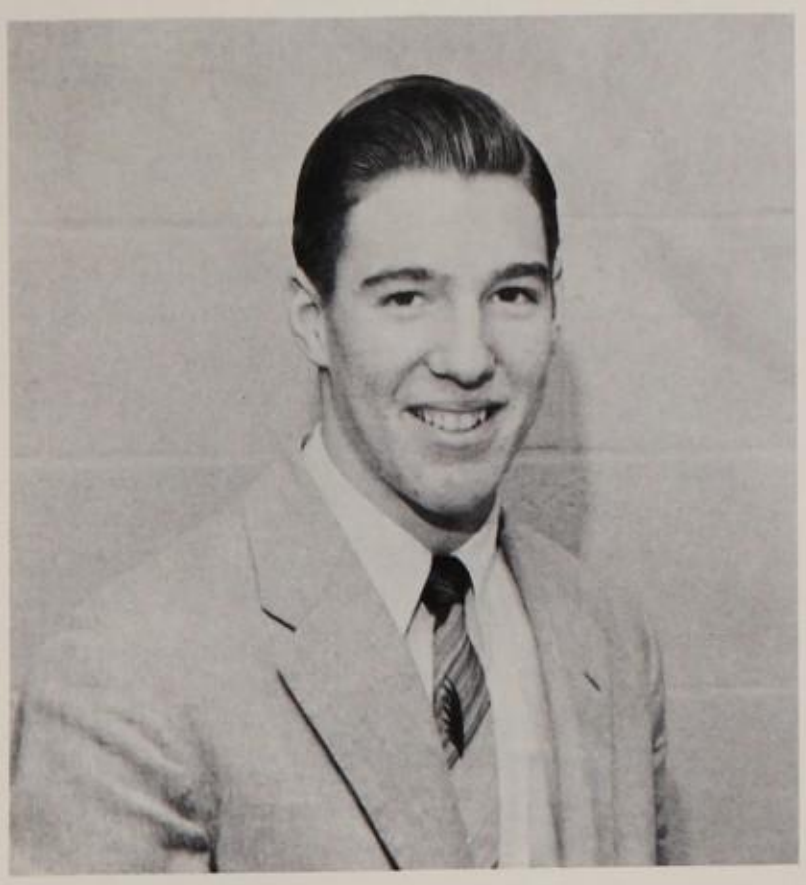
Scholars, All

Valedictorian

Roger Des Forges was prominent in many areas of student activity. He had been accepted at Kenyon College in Ohio and had planned to study English and foreign languages in preparation for the Diplomatic Service. He won a Regents scholarship and was a semi-finalist in the National Honor Society scholarship competition.

Salutatorian



Richard Harlow was also active in many phases of our life at school. His scholastic interests centered around mathematics and science. He planned to attend R.P.I. to study these subjects with the aim of becoming a research engineer.
